Drawings

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the hinge and safety catch on the opposing side of the door and housing must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as “amended.” If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either “Replacement Sheet” or “New Sheet” pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: there are no headings throughout the specification, e.g. "Brief Description of the Drawings". Also, it is improper to refer to claims in the specification since claims can be amended and thus altering the specification. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 19, 21-25, 27, 28, and 31-37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Anderson (2,385,961). Anderson teaches a refrigerator (Fig. 1) comprising: a housing (1,7) having at least two housing parts, including a body (1) and at least one door (7) hinged to the body; the housing enclosing a heat-insulated interior compartment; the housing having a door safety catch (see Fig. 3) including a catch element (38,28,35) with two sloping faces (on 35 adjacent 38) pivotably mounted against a restoring force (spring 34,40) on a first housing part (the door and its features) and a projection (4-6) with two sloping faces (on 5 and 6) mounted on a second housing part (the body) cooperating with the catch element; and a shaft (27) about which the catch element can be pivoted mounted in the first housing part while crossing a side wall (top wall 24 or top wall of the door) of the first housing part. The catch element is located in the housing (in housing 24-26 of the first housing part/door and in the door housing) and also the projection is fixed on a door bearing (3). Furthermore, a section of said shaft (top end portion) engages a side wall (24) of the first housing part via a receiving portion (opening).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Anderson in view of Parera (3,733,749). As stated above, Anderson teaches the limitations of claims 19 and 27, including a door, housing, hinges and safety catch. For claim 29, Anderson fails to teach that the hinges and safety catch between the door and housing can be reversed. Parera teaches reversible hinges between a housing and door (Figs. 5 and 6). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to reverse the hinge arrangement and therefore also the safety catch arrangement of Anderson, such as is taught by Parera, depending on the desired need on the person using the housing, e.g. depending on the housing and door's position in the room in which they are located (in which way would it be practical to have the door open), personal preferences, etc.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 20, 26 and 30 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed March 11, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Addressing the arguments concerning the reference of Anderson'961: the examiner contends that Anderson'961 teaches all of the limitations set forth in the claims, including a catch element (38,28,35) with a shaft (27) about which the catch element can be pivoted and that is mounted in a first housing part (the door) while crossing a side wall (top wall 24 found in the door and top wall of door) of the first housing part. Namely, the catch element is rotated so that it moves across the surfaces of members 24 and the top of the door.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
